Automatic debits

Subscription Manager helps stabilise your cashflow by charging customers automatically on their due dates for recurring payments. They no longer have to remember to make payments.

Timely notifications

Automatically send customers SMS or email notifications in the form of upcoming payment reminders, new, updated and cancelled payment schedule confirmations, payment receipts and overdue payment alerts.

Centralised management

View and manage all your subscriptions in a single portal for simple reconciliation and reporting.

Flexible payment schedules

Allowing customers to pay at their convenience is a key offering. Subscription Manager can be configured to offer weekly, fortnightly, monthly, quarterly, semi-annual and annual payments with pre-set payment amounts, giving customers the freedom to choose what suits them best.

Decline management

Subscription Manager automatically retries declined payments. You can configure how many times and for what period retries should be made. After several unsuccessful attempts, you can send the customer a payment link via SMS or email so they can settle the overdue payment on the spot. Payments can also be monitored in real-time.
